for Western Europe

FROM: EA/DDCI

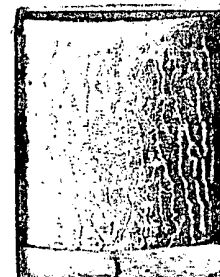

Milt,

John reiterates that his concern is one of roles and missions. If you want to ask DDI to sponsor and take the lead in such a conference and include NIC participation, that would be fine. You have to work this out, however, with the DDI.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director of Central Intelligence

THROUGH : Charles Waterman
Vice Chairman, National Intelligence Council

FROM : Milton Kovner
National Intelligence Officer for Western Europe

SUBJECT : Proposed  Conference

1. As you may know, the impulse for proposing the subject conference arose out of a discussion with the DCI during which he was musing about the ways intelligence could more directly support US foreign policy objectives -- without overstepping the bounds of its mandated functions. I recalled for him that during my earlier incarnation with the Agency, there was concern, both here and at State, that our Allies were insufficiently concerned about the recent thrust of the USSR into the Third World (the military assistance program to Egypt and the economic aid effort in India were by then well under way), and Sherman Kent arranged  a day-and-a-half conference on the implications of the new Soviet initiative. All of us left the sessions at the Cabinet Office with the feeling that we had not only helped develop a shared appreciation of the long-term nature of the Soviet program, but that recognition of its importance and implications would
